More it leaves Massachusetts. Then the cities in our own State add to it, and thus pollute this onee-clean river to a dangerous degree.

There is a law requiring the disposal of sewage, in Massachusetts, and other citles in that State will cease to empty their sewage into the Connecticut and Houstonic Rivers, but there is as yet no law of this kind in our State, and thoustonic Rivers, but there is as yet no law of this kind in our State, and worse,

Dr. Frederick P. Gorham, of Brown University, a member of the Rhode Island Shell-Fish Commission, recently said, in a public address:

"It is certain that the rivers and streets but disease is not developed streams of Connecticut will soon unless the germs find conditions suit-

Pauline Cushman, the Federal Spy, Two-Reel War Spectacle.

Tremendous interest and enthusiasm was aroused at the Breed yesterday at every performance of Pauline Cush-man, the Federal Spy, for every scene is crowded with mystery and strategy, to say nothing of the brilliant mil-thary action. Pauline, an adventurous girl born in the south, becomes an girl born in the south, becomes an actress, but as most of her theatrical triumphs occurred in the north, she secretly took an oath of allegiance to the federal government, at Columbus, Ohio, in 1863. Some time after this, the action of this big feature takes place, and her many hazardous undertakings are portrayed with a keen sense of appreciation to detail. Altogether, this two-reel feature is one of the strongest of the season, and is strongest of the season, and is cound to create a goodly amount of favorable criticism.

Near to Earth, a profoundly interesting Biograph story, is on the realistic order and shows some of the most beautiful shore scenes ever photo-graphed. Maurice Costello and G. M. HEARING ON "ANTI-POLLUTION." Bill Provides that Cities and Towns must "Clean up" Sewage.

This afternoon at two o'clock public hearing on House Bill No. 708, known as the Anti-Pollution' Bill, will A number of interests are advocat-authorities, yachtsmen, summer colo-ny associations, fishermen and oyster The bill provides that all rivers and empty newage into them shall be required to "purify" or otherwise dis-pose of such sewage.

Among the beneficial effects of the summer homes on the shores of the sound and rivers, more enjoyable boating, a pronounced gain in public health and cleanliness and the restoration of the former splendid supply of fish and shell-fish in our water-courses

Drinking water secured from watercourses will be purer than ever. Some idea of the necessity for protecting public water-supply can be had by considering the situation at Spring-field, Mass., on the Connecticut River: Water unfit for drinking will hereafter by publicity placarded in Springfield, Mass. The local Board of Springheid, Mass. The local Board of Health has passed an ordinance requiring that pipes, faucets, and other outlets from which unfiltered river water is obtained for fire protection and industrial uses be provided with placard of warning and painted a brilliant red, says the Engineering Record.

In this way it hoped to prevent peo- owner's home. In this way it hoped to prevent peo-ple from drinking the contaminated water and reduce the mortality from enteric diseases. The ordinance, in fact, goes a step further and requires that pails and similar utensils for containing the river water be marked with the red danger-sign. As for the placards at the faucets, they bear the legend "Warning Polluted Water," in letters at least one inch in height, and letters at least one inch in height, and are inscribed in several languages. The Springfield Board of Health is to be commended for the action it has taken. Duplicate systems of water supply, one for domestic and the other for industrial use, are not uncommon in cities where there are large number of mills and factories, as at Springfield. That city is supplied with filtered water for domestic use, but it is difficult to make mill-hands, many of them foreigners, appreciate the danger of using the impure river water by telling them the risks they take. The printing and placarding of the faucets, however, should set as a much needed deterrent in the promiscuous use of such water. letters at least one inch in height, and

It should be remembered that these conditions exist at a point north of our State boundary line. They mean that the water of the Connecticut River is already partly polluted be-

BEEKEEPERS' CONVENTION. President Allen W. Latham Declines

Re-election by State Association. The twenty-second annual meeting of the Connecticut Beekeepers' association was held at the Young Men's Christian association at Hartford on Saturday, President Allen Latham of promoted to be production superinten-

Norwich presided. The morning session opened at 10.30. Prayer was offered by O. S. Rexford of Winsted. Secretary-Treasurer James A. Smith of Hartford read the minutes of the Financial.

Mr. Smith gave the present mempership as 127.

He also presented his report as remaurer. The balance a year ago was $9.14. The receipts the past year were: Membership and re-newals, $96.50; new members, $11.50; Connecticur Fair association, $200; P. W. Latham (loan), $200; subscriptions, $83.56; fair committee, $16.25 total, $617.05.

The expenditures were: Conecti cut Farmer, $24.25; printing, $14.25; postage, $24.18; hall rent, $10; speaker at spring meeting, $6.15; premiums for fall honey exhibits, $504.50; inter-est ore note, $5.28; total, $588.61. The balance on hand is $28.44. Mr. Smith said it was supposed that $200 would be received from the state for the use of the association last fall, but Attorney General John H. Light had given a decision that the Connecticut skeepers' association, not being purely an agricultural society, was not entitled to the $200. This was not known until the premiums had been awarded last fall. Consequently the association had to borrow money and secured a loan of $200 from P. W. Latham.

Before General Assembly. Alien W. Yates said a bill was now before the general assembly which will allow any society or association devoted to any branch of agriculture to receive the desired appropria-tion. Mr. Yates said it was likely the bill would pass and thus relieve the condition of the association's training. A number of interests are advocating the bill—particularly the sanitary broad and exhibitions presented in-

CLEAN-UP BEGINS.

Norwich Urged to Devote This Week to Producing the City Beautiful.

Saturday began the clean-up week which the City Beautiful association is orging the citizens and the city government to observe in such an ef-fective way that there shall be no mis-nomer in calling Norwich the Rose of lew England.

This means that householders shall ook over their premises to see if they are in as neat and tidy a condition as ossible, and that the streets can have extra attention on the part of the city to present them in their most inviting appearance. Vacant lots where rub-bish accumulates, billboards where torn paper litters the ground, and any other places where waste paper or lit-ter makes an offense to the eyes are to receive attention this week.
